

STOP PEEKING

My lifesaver, My Miracle Tape!

Who would have thought double-sided sticky tape had so many uses?

If you have used wardrobe tape (double-sided) before you will know what I am talking about if you haven't, I recommend you get some.

HELENAMCINTYRE

www.helenamcintyre.com

Here's what I use my miracle tape for.....

Hide your bra straps

Gaping blouse or closing gaps between buttons

Getting make-up off clothes - I was surprised when I found that it removed lipstick off a sweater

Holding your hem and cuffs in place

Secures the end of a belt; you know that annoying last section

Hiding your undergarment - when layering sometimes the undergarment peeks out - use the tape to hold the garment in place and prevent the peek!

Secure your Clip-on Earrings - Don't want to lose your favourite pair place a piece of tape on the back for extra hold

Wrap dress or shirt or a sexy slit. Choose how much you want to show by placing a piece of tape at that point you want to stop the peek

Armhole gaps - Some tops are just cut with a larger armhole, and you end up showing too much bra. Stick your garment to your bra and no more peeking

Securing shoulder pads in place

Holding your scarf where you want it

I recommend investing in fabric double-sided tape. It comes in clear, is designed for the job, adheres well and leaves no residue on your garments.

